TESTIMONY

Recently a colleague and I were asked to speak at an industry event on 'Designed Success'. We felt it right to speak frankly about the role of our faith in the story of our business success. It was, perhaps, surprisingly well received and we were invited to share at our professions national conference later in the year. At this event we were explicitly asked to share about how our beliefs influenced our approach to business. It was empowering to be able to articulate how our faith influenced our business.
